VIETNAM

STUDENTS AND FACULTY VOICE OPINIONS

DRAFT CARD CONTROVERSY

The year is 1965. The setting is New York, Boston, or Los Angeles, a college campus, a busy street, or a selective service center. The plot is one that is endangering America's position as a leader in the fight for democracy.

It seems that we Americans have found a unique way to let the rest of the world know that we don't like the way our country is being run. Signs, sit-ins, and picketing have faded out in the wake of more recent techniques such as draft card burning and self burning, which, by the way, is becoming increasingly popular.

From the hallowed halls of Harvard to the boisterous corridors of Berkeley, our fellow collegians have seen fit to express their personal opinions on Vietnam for better or for worse. Not to be outdone in this venture, the students and faculty at Mount Wachusett have a few opinions which are expressed in a slightly less violent way than those of some of their associates.

A survey was conducted at this college. The response was overwhelmingly against the burning of draft cards and supported, for the most part, President Johnson's policy in Vietnam. Here are some of the views expressed:

"As a former serviceman, I am against it completely. We should be proud to serve our country." Brian B. '66

"Burning draft cards is ridiculous. If these individuals are so brave, send them to Vietnam. We should be proud to serve our country, not be against it."

Bruce Whitney '66

"It's a disgrace. I'm completely against it."

Prof. Lopriore

"I think they should draft everyone who burned his card."

Donald Lacouture '67

"Disgusting and totally un-American."

Peter Bubon '67

"Let's face it, nobody likes going to Vietnam, but if we don't, who will?"

James Grautski '67

"A mark of irresponsible adolescence."

Prof. Barnett

These are only samples of the opinions of your friends. But no one has a better right to express his opinion than the soldier himself.

Reports have come back from Vietnam telling of the soldiers' disgust at the attitude of the American people.

One typical G.I. wrote a letter to his family after hearing of the cross-country demonstrations. In the letter, he summed up his opinion in a concise sentence:

"I feel that if we stop fighting for democracy, it will be the beginning of the end.

with fire.

We have been suffering from a serious drought, and the forest fire danger is rapidly climbing, and the calcination of draft cards by puerile college students offers a new danger to the country.

Lest the entire United States

Boston University for four and a half years before arriving at Mount Wachusett Community College.

Mr. Barnett's purpose in teaching is to help students find unknown creativity and to complete what is commonly called, "free choice." He feels that students are not in college to learn facts, as they did in earlier years of school, but to develop their own ideas to the fullest potential. He attempts to present some facts

THE PRESIDENT'S HOUR

The President's Hour at Mount Wachusett is a regularly scheduled event when the academic life is enriched with practical and informative knowledge as a supplement to the routine of study. Professor George Karam, the faculty co-ordinator has invited guest speakers that have ranged from the esoteric world of poetry as seen in the work of David McCord, to the historic element as presented in Dean Wuorinen's talk on Communism, to the dramatic presentation of the Yakims Pantomime Theater of New York.

Mount Wachusett was honored to have the Junior Senator of Massachusetts, Senator Edward Kennedy, give a talk on his recent trip to Viet Nam.

The first Open House at Mount Wachusett proved to be a great success with more than 1300 people inspecting the facilities at the school. The focus of attention included a slide presentation, an industrial exhibit, and an art showing.

The Yearbook Staff

would like to express its deepest appreciation to Mr. Douglas C. Hebb, our first advisor, and to Miss Marylyn Fortin our advisor for the 1965-66 year.

We would also like to give special thanks to Edward Bajakian and Peter Rousseau, our student photographers, Mr. Douglas Dunn, Mr. Fred Kardon, and Mr. Frank Hirons for their photographic assistance, and especially Mr. Bill Rowan, The Taylor Publishing Company Representative.

Without their advice and co-operation the yearbook could not have been a success.
